

Jacques D. Combeau

Spent most of his career in the IP Department of IBM in France and at IBM Europe Middle East Africa where he held the position of Intellectual Property Counsel.

After a few years as a consultant to various companies on IP matters, he joined Air Liquide in October 2001 as Senior Deputy Director of Intellectual Property. He is now adviser to the Vice President, Intellectual Property, Air Liquide.

He also acts as an adviser to the Committee on Intellectual Property of the French Industry Association MEDEF and is a member of the Patent and Copyright Working Groups of BUSINESSEUROPE.

He is a past chairman of the industrial and intellectual property commission of the International Chamber of Commerce.