

Jim Boff is a partner in the London IP firm Phillips & Leigh. He has a degree in Chemistry from the University of Oxford and entered the IP profession in 1980. His practice is primarily patent related, but he maintains a trademark expertise.

Jim is a long-standing member of CIPA Council and is a member of CIPA's Patents Committee and EPO Liaison Committee.

Jim is also a substitute member of Council for epi [Institute of Professional Representatives before the European Patent Office] and Chairman of their EPO Finances Committee. In this role Jim attends meetings of the EPO's Budget and Finance Committee as an observer and contributor to debate.

Jim is also a Member of the Disciplinary Board of the European Patent Office.